Cambridge

Cambridge is a university city and the county town of Cambridgeshire, England, on the River Cam about 63 miles (102 km) north of London. Cambridge manages to combine its role as an historic city with a world-renowned University and it is an internationally acknowledged centre of excellence for technology and science.

The University of Cambridge (www.cam.ac.uk) was founded in 1209 and it is one of the top five universities in the world. It has 31 colleges, the oldest being Peterhouse (1284) and the newest being Robinson (1979).

Travel Information

Cambridge is located 63 miles (102 km) north of London and for international delegates we recommend travel via London Stansted airport as the most convenient.

Approximate travel times:

- London Stansted Airport - 45 mins by car – 35 mins by train
- London Luton Airport – 1 hour by car – 2 hours (by train via London)
- London Heathrow Airport - 90 mins by car – around 2 hours (by train – possible changes)
- London Gatwick Airport – 2 hours by car – around 2 hours by train (by train – possible changes).
- London King's Cross and St Pancras Eurostar link – 1 hour by train

Homerton College is the biggest and newest College of the University of Cambridge, and home to a talented and diverse community of over 1300 students and 60 Fellows. The College was founded in London in 1768. Until 2001, Homerton was a specialist teacher-training college, but they received their Royal Charter as a full College of the University of Cambridge in 2010, and now span all subjects from Art History to Zoology.

Homerton College is based in south Cambridge, just outside the city centre and close to the biomedical campus. There are acres of green space, modern facilities and a peaceful, welcoming atmosphere.

How to reach the college

By Public Transport

The citi 1 bus stops outside Homerton and departs every 10 minutes from the station. There are plenty of taxis outside the main entrance to the station.

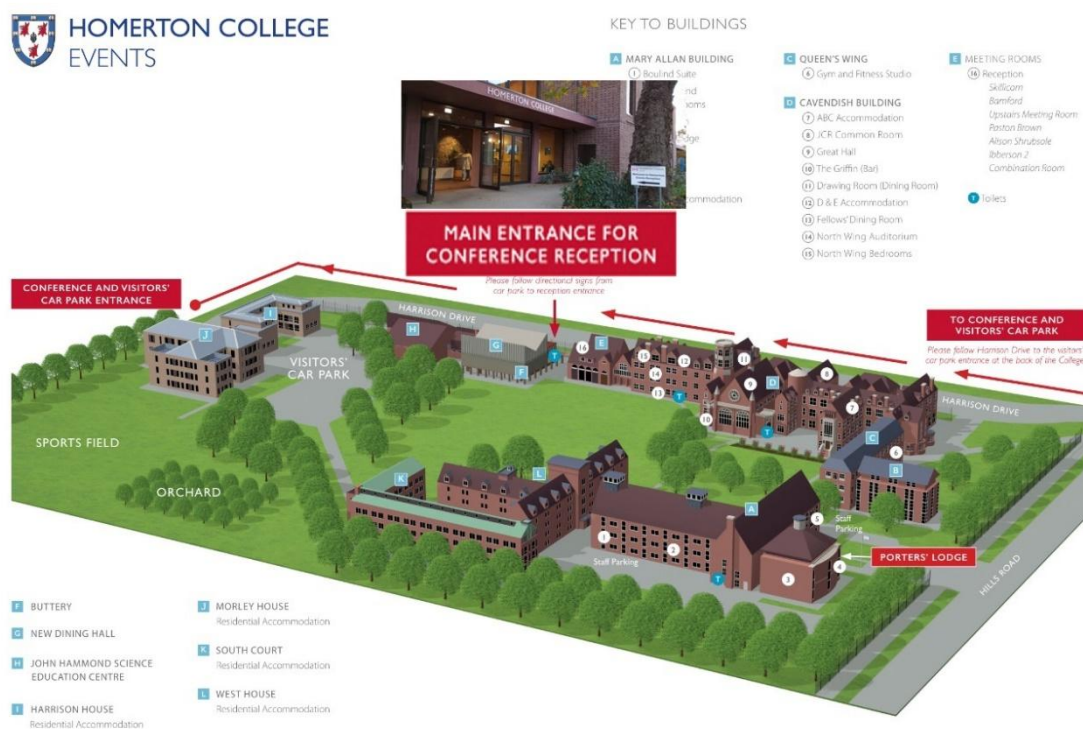

To walk to Homerton:

- On exiting the station turn left onto Station Place and walk for a few minutes before turning right on to Brookgate. Turn left by the Co-op on to Hills Road and walk over the railway bridge, continue walking along Hills Road and cross over Cherry Hinton Road at the lights.
- Homerton College is on the right-hand side past Hills Road Sixth Form College, behind the black railings. Follow the signs to the event. If you have accommodation booked at Homerton, please report to the Porters' Lodge to check-in.

By Car

There is a large car park at the rear of Homerton College which is free of charge for delegates of the symposium. This is located at the end of Harrison Drive. Follow the road all the way round the back of Harrison House. Space is not guaranteed and is available on a first come first served basis.

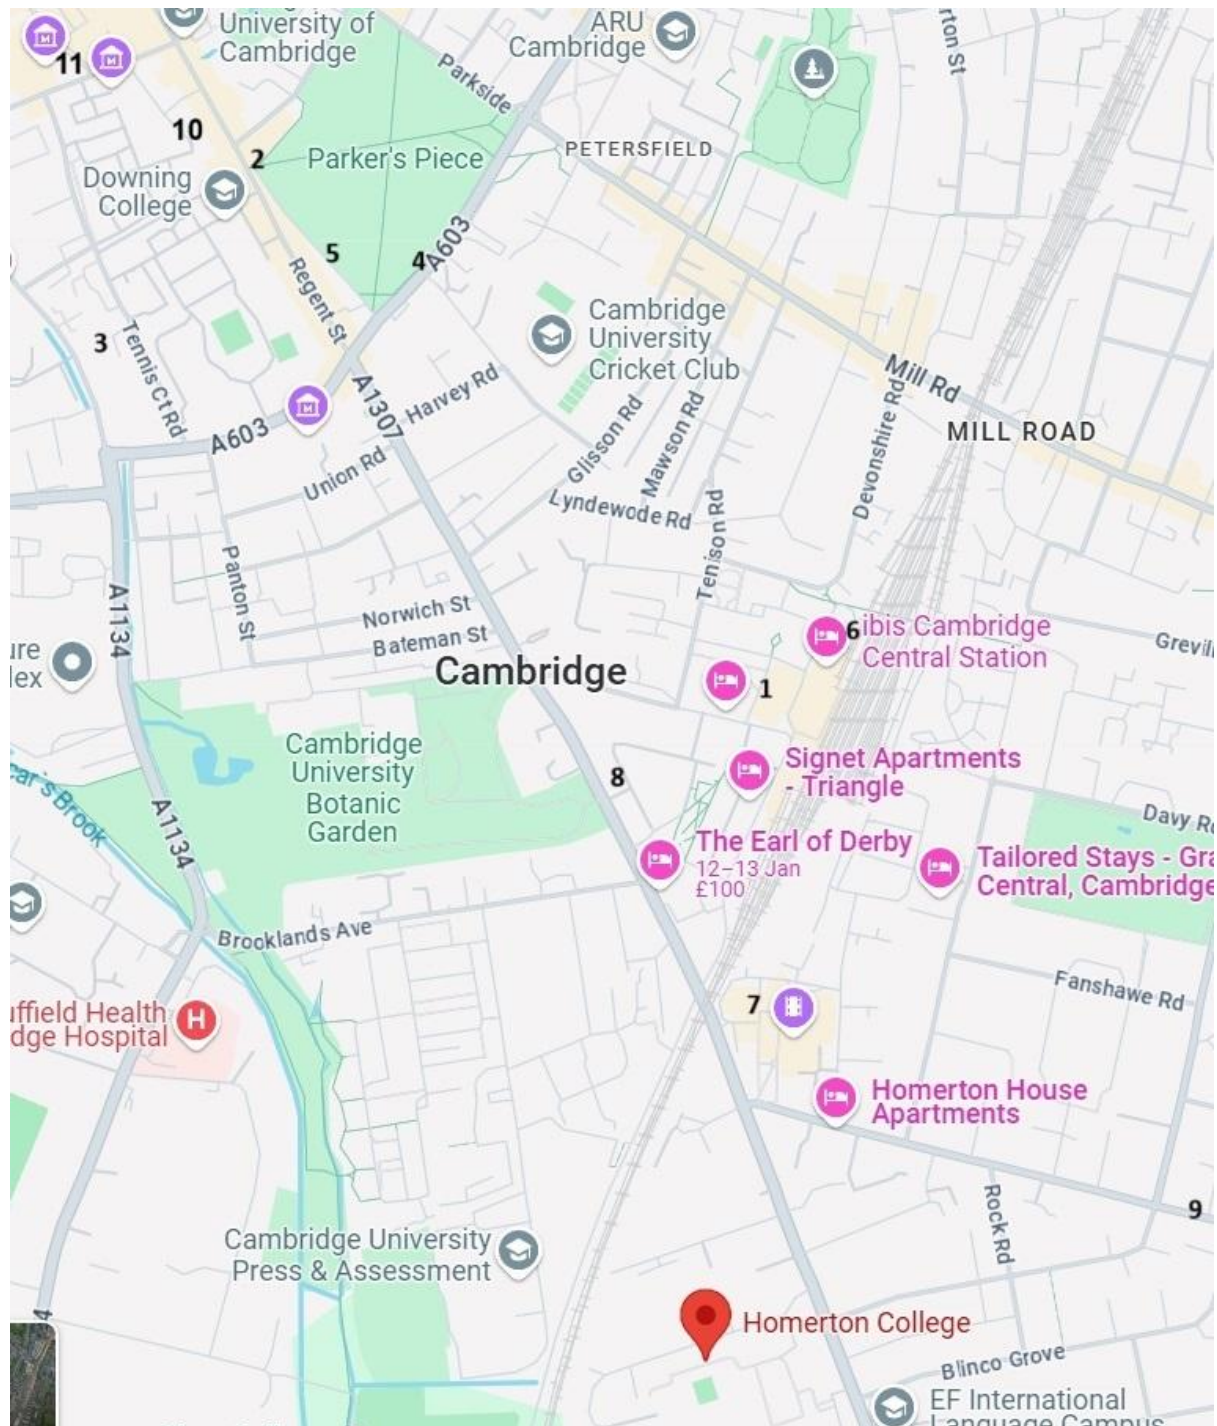

Parking at Homerton is free, but an entrance code is required to access. If you need to use this facility, please inform the organisers (info@CNT-Ltd.co.uk) when registering or prior to the event.

List of Hotels in Cambridge
